BIOGRAPHY

Hailing from the stark, prairie metropolis of Edmonton, Alberta, Kane Incognito is the dynamic brainchild of lead singer/songwriter Eric Kane Cherrington. After the loss of his brother and No Heat Tomorrow bandmate, Keeth Cherrington, Eric turned to music and formed Kane Incognito with his cousins, Austin & Braydon Shaw and childhood friend, Stephen Schoenthaler. The result is a deep blend of indie folk and modern rock music best described as the love child of City & Colour, Mumford & Sons, and Kaleo.

Their first single, 'Young & Able' was released in June of 2017 and hit number eight on the iTunes Rock Charts and was nominated for 'Rock Recording of the Year' at the Edmonton Music Awards. The band released their debut album Brother in October of 2017. They released their next single, 'Diagnose Me' in June of 2018, which also was nominated for "Indie Rock Recording of the Year" at the EMA's and was met with stellar reviews from Pure Grain Audio, Canadian Beats Media, and Turn Up The Volume!

The band has played several music festivals including Seven Music Festival and Wild Mountain Music Festival, Pigeon Lake Music Festival. They have relentlessly toured western Canada over the years while opening for a string of popular artists including Hey Ocean!, Elle King, Banners, Grandson, Carmanah, Twin Bandit, The Blue Stones, Luca Fogale, and Sum 41. They have begun unfolding their 3rd studio E.P. "Eyes Wide Open" with 2 new singles and the title track released on June 11th 2021 with the rest in its entirety Fall 2021.
